Blenko
Revives
an Age-Old
Art

The first hand-made glass was made in the same manner that you see pictured above, by one of the Blenko craftsmen.

The Blenko Glass Company is one of the few companies left in this country who are training young apprentices to form glass using the off-hand technique.

Only through this method can the graceful shapes and unusual texture of this glass be obtained.

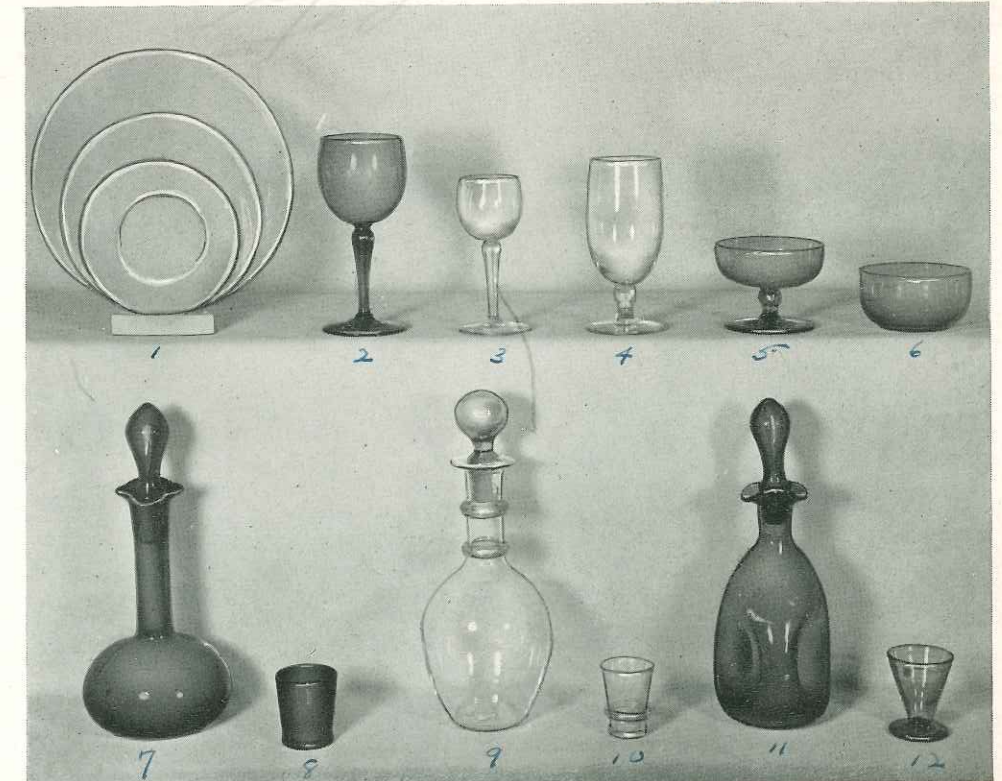

For two generations the Blenko family has manufactured stained glass which has been used in most of the important church windows throughout the United States. The formulas for making this glass have been handed down from father to son and consists of two hundred shades of color. From this beautiful color range they have selected six outstanding colors in which the following pieces can be purchased. They are as follows: Ruby, Aqua, Green, Violet, Turquoise and Crystal.

Williamsburg Glassware Reproductions

During the excavations for Restored Williamsburg, fragments of table stemware were discovered. Before they could be reproduced, the ingredients had to be studied, to get the same color and texture as the old glass. It is a rich lead glass and has a fine "ring." All reproductions are made of this same type of crystal.
